

I am writing to express my strong disapproval of Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to air an anti-Kerry documentary on its stations before the election. As Sinclair uses public airwaves free of charge, and is thus obligated to serve the public interest, their plan to air this documentary should be halted. It is hardly in the public interest for them to air a one-sided, blatantly partisan film without providing the opposition equal airtime.

I urge you to halt the airing of this documentary and to consider the broader implications of allowing a corporation like Sinclair unfettered access to the airwaves at the expense of smaller, more local companies. Democracy is best served when many, small voices are heard not when a few, loud ones dominate the scene.

Thank you for considering my view.
